Richmond Heights Memorial Library ADULT USE OF CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

The Children's Library was established within the Richmond Heights Memorial Library for the exclusive use of children, parents, and caregivers. It houses a collection of materials, toys and games expressly chosen to answer the recreational and educational tastes of children and provides a space for use of these materials by children. Adults, other than parents, caregivers, teachers, or students of children's literature enrolled in a class at an accredited college or university, who are unaccompanied by a child have no reason to be in the Children's Library and will be asked to leave. Any variance to this policy will be only through express permission of the library staff as requested and when presented with compelling reason.

Adopted by the RHML Library Board of Trustees September 15, 2008
